Japan Study as a Public Good in Asia
Part I Declining Birthrate and Aging

1 Japanese Social Welfare System Reform and Transformation of Social Governance
   Jin-wen Song and Lin Huang
   1.1 Basic Concepts and Understanding of Japan’s Social Welfare Reform
      1.1.1 Social Welfare, the Welfare State and Welfare Society
      1.1.2 Social Governance
   1.2 Institutional Reform and Transformation in Management Format
      1.2.1 The Administrative Measures Model of Welfare
      1.2.2 Institutional Reform of Japan’s Welfare System
      1.2.3 Shift to Local Welfare
   1.3 The Outcomes and Problems of the Institutional Reform
   1.4 Conclusion
   References

2 Aging Population, Decreasing Birthrate and National Security: Searching for the Possibility of Cooperation Between Japan and Korea
   Kijeong Nam
   2.1 Outline of Japan’s Defensive Power and Population Problem
   2.2 National Defense Plan and Population Problems in Korea
   2.3 Conclusion
   References
Part II  Technological Innovation and Societal Change

3 The Impact of Modern Technology on Japanese Studies  ........................................ 31
   Benjamin Wai-ming Ng
   3.1 A Brief History of Modern Technology in Japanese Studies  ................................ 31
   3.2 Pros and Cons of Using Modern Technology in Japanese Studies  ............................ 34
   3.3 Concluding Remarks  ......................................................................................... 36
   References  .............................................................................................................. 36

4 Social Technology Research in Japan as a Public Good  ........................................ 37
   Qiu-ju Wang
   4.1 Introduction to the Problem  .............................................................................. 37
   4.2 An Examination of Social Technology Research in Japan  ................................. 39
   4.3 What Social Technology Research in Japan Suggests About Research into Technological Ethics  ................................................................. 41
   4.4 Conclusion  ....................................................................................................... 43
   References  .............................................................................................................. 44

5 The New Overseas Chinese in Japan: What Case Studies Tell Us  ......................... 45
   Yong-Feng Xing
   5.1 The Development of Research on New Overseas Chinese and Its Challenges  ........ 45
   5.2 Research Subjects and Method  ......................................................................... 46
   5.3 What the Survey Tells Us  ................................................................................ 48
      5.3.1 The State of Identity: Japan and China in Life  ............................................. 48
      5.3.2 On Nationality  ......................................................................................... 48
      5.3.3 Relationship with the Host Society  ............................................................ 49
   5.4 On the Future  .................................................................................................. 50
   5.5 Conclusion and Remaining Challenges  ............................................................ 50
   References  .............................................................................................................. 51

Part III  Robust Society Against Natural Disasters

6 People with Different Abilities and Disaster—Lessons Learned from Jogjakarta, Post-earthquake 2006–2016  .................................................. 55
   Ikaputra
   6.1 Different Abilities  ............................................................................................ 55
   6.2 The 2006 Jogjakarta Earthquake  .................................................................... 56
   6.3 Post-earthquake Experience  ........................................................................... 58
   References  .............................................................................................................. 58
The Effectiveness of Advertising Media Channels in Encouraging Travel to a Post-disaster Destination: A Case in Japan

Mei Huang

7.1 Research on Recovery of Travel to a Post-disaster Destination
7.2 Tourist Advertisements
7.3 The Great East Japan Earthquake
7.4 Research Hypotheses
   7.4.1 Post-disaster Destination Recovery
   7.4.2 Perception of Destination Attractiveness
   7.4.3 The Factor of Risk
   7.4.4 Advertising Effectiveness via Different Media

References