Reena Marwah
Delhi University, India

Reimagining India–Thailand Relations
A Multilateral and Bilateral Perspective
Contents

Preface vii
About the Author xvii
Acknowledgments xix
List of Abbreviations xxvii
List of Figures xxix
List of Tables xxxi

Chapter 1 Southeast Asia: An Indian Imprint 1

1.1 Introduction: Geography and Culture as the Context 2
1.2 Indigenization and Cross-Cultural Borrowings 5
  1.2.1 Locating India’s Historical Influence in Southeast Asia 6
1.3 Indianization: Relevant Literature 7
1.4 Empires, Kings, and Early Exchanges 8
1.5 Diffusion of Indian Religion and Culture in Southeast Asia 12
  1.5.1 Ramayana in Southeast Asia 14
1.6 Intermingling of Cultures 17
1.7 Conclusion 19
Chapter 2 Southeast Asia: The Colonial Capture (14th–20th Centuries) 23

2.1 European Colonization of Asia: The Genesis 23
2.2 Southeast Asia: Before the Advent of the Europeans 24
   2.2.1 Southeast Asia’s Appeal 25
2.3 Europeans: The Masters of the Seas 27
2.4 Southeast Asia in Europeans’ Colonial Capture:
   Maritime and Mainland 29
   2.4.1 Maritime Southeast Asia and the Colonial Powers 31
   2.4.2 Mainland Southeast Asia and the Colonial Powers 33
   2.4.3 Britain and France in Southeast Asia 35
2.5 Siam’s Tryst with Colonizers and the Role of Mongkut’s Diplomacy 38
   2.5.1 The Military in Thailand 40
2.6 Conclusion 41

Chapter 3 Thailand–India: Through the Lens of Southeast Asian History and Culture 45

3.1 Introduction 45
3.2 Advent of Buddhism and Brahmanism 47
   3.2.1 A Contiguous Civilization 48
   3.2.2 Hindu Gods: Repository of God’s Divinity during 8th–11th Centuries 49
3.3 Buddhism — Influences from Burma and Sri Lanka during the 11th–13th Centuries 50
3.4 Religion in Thai History 52
   3.4.1 Thailand in the Post-Khmer Era: 1238 to the Present 53
3.5 Thai Kings and India 56
3.6 Cultural Manifestations of Bilateral Ties 61
   3.6.1 Art, Architecture, Temples, and Beliefs 61
   3.6.2 Indian Influence on Thai Language 65
   3.6.3 Thai Ramayana or Ramakirti/Ramakien 67
   3.6.4 India’s Influence on Festivals and Ceremonies 69
3.7 Tai Communities in India and People-to-People Connections: The Cultural Continuum 74
3.8 Conclusion 77
6.3 Marketable Surplus of Agro-Produce 148
   6.3.1 Harnessing the Marketable Surplus of Agro-Produce 149
   6.3.2 Investors Summit — 2018 Advantage Assam: An Assessment 150
6.4 Economic Corridors: Linking to Myanmar 152
6.5 Issues and Challenges 155
6.6 China’s Strategic Manoeuvres: Is There a Way Forward for India? 158
6.7 Conclusion 161

Chapter 7 India–Thailand Connectivity Initiatives: Strategic Underpinnings 165

7.1 The Context 165
7.2 It’s All about Connectivity for Strategic Influence 166
7.3 Connectivity Projects 167
7.4 Imphal–Mandalay Bus Service 171
   7.4.1 India–Myanmar Kaladan Multi Modal Transit Transport Project (KMMTTP) 172
7.5 Key Issues 174
7.6 Strategic Engagement: Highways and Corridors 175
   7.6.1 East–West and North–South Four-Lane Corridors: The Disruptions in Myanmar 176
7.7 Maritime Connectivity: Acting East 177
   7.7.1 Port Connectivity 178
   7.7.2 Maritime Connectivity: Port Infrastructure and Efficiency Hold the Key 179
   7.7.3 Comparative Data: Indian Ports Lagging behind Asia’s Major Ports 179
7.8 Port Connectivity and Short Sea Shipping: A Boost to India’s AEP 181
7.9 Ports for Connectivity or Collusion: The China Conundrum 183
7.10 Conclusion 184
   7.10.1 Emerging Synergy and Opportunities: The Way Forward 186
Chapter 8 Thailand–India Economic Relations

8.1 Introduction 189
8.2 Thailand’s Macroeconomy: A Brief Outline 190
8.3 Burgeoning Industrial Sector: Post-2014 192
8.4 Thailand: Setting Economic Priorities 193
8.5 India–Thailand Bilateral Trade 194
8.6 India–Thailand FTA 195
8.7 India–Thailand Trade: Recent Trends 196
8.8 Scope for Enhancing Bilateral Trade 201
8.9 Thailand: A Favored Investment Destination 205
  8.9.1 Thai Companies in India 206
8.10 Indian Investment in Thailand 206
  8.10.1 The Period 2001–2013 206
  8.10.2 Post-2014: India’s Investment in Thailand 208
8.11 India–Thailand Bilateral Trade and Investment Issues 214
8.12 Importance of India–Thailand Economic Relations 217
  8.12.1 A Perspective from Thailand 217
  8.12.2 A Perspective from India 218
8.13 Tourism 219
8.14 Conclusion 221

Chapter 9 Reimagining India–Thailand Relations: The Way Ahead

9.1 Economic Aspects and Positioning Thailand as a Manufacturing Hub in ASEAN: Possibilities for India 226
  9.1.1 India, Thailand, and the ASEAN Economic Community 227
  9.1.2 Thailand in the “Mighty Five”: Aligning Economic and Strategic Interests 228
  9.1.3 Catapulting Growth of CLMV 229
  9.1.4 Thailand’s EEC: A Catalyst for Regional Integration 230
  9.1.5 Potential of Thailand’s Tourism Industry 230
9.2 Repositioning Thailand in India’s Geoeconomic and Geostrategic Construct 231
9.3 Potential for India to Deepen Relations with Thailand
  9.3.1 Historical and Cultural Linkages
  9.3.2 Linkages through the Indian Diaspora
  9.3.3 Education and Science and Technology Linkages
  9.3.4 An Expansion of Two-way Trade
  9.3.5 Investment and Infrastructural Alliances for Connectivity
  9.3.6 Balancing Chinese Strategic Influence
  9.3.7 Advantage Thailand: Learnings for India
  9.3.8 Advantage India: Learnings for Thailand
  9.3.9 RCEP: The Mega Trade Deal
  9.3.10 India’s Indo-Pacific Vision
  9.3.11 BIMSTEC and MGC

9.4 Conclusion

Bibliography

Primary Sources: Interviews of Officials and Experts

Index