The Dialectic of Capital

A Study of the Inner Logic of Capitalism

By

Thomas T. Sekine

VOLUME 1

Introduction,
the Doctrine of Circulation,
and the Doctrine of Production

BRILL

LEIDEN | BOSTON
Contents

VOLUME 1

Preface to This Edition XIII
Preface to the First Edition XVII

Introduction 1
A. Marxism, Ideology and Science 1
   (a) Marxism as an Ideology 1
   (b) The Three Elements of Marxist Knowledge 6
   (c) The Problem of Social Science 12
B. The Significance of the Dialectic 18
   (a) Hegel's Dialectic 18
   (b) The Rational Kernel of the Dialectic 26
   (c) The Contradiction between Value and Use-value 35
C. Political Economy and Socialism 43
   (a) The Scope of Political Economy 43
      The Stage of Mercantilism 47
      The Stage of Liberalism 48
      The Stage of Imperialism 49
   (b) The Fallacy of the Logical-historical Method 52
   (c) From Capitalism to Socialism 63

PART 1
The Doctrine of Circulation (The Being of Capital)

Introductory Remarks 77

1 The Form of the Commodity (Quality) 82
The Hegel Correspondence 85
A. The Two Factors of a Commodity: Value and Use-value (The Pure
   Being of Value) 86
   (a) The Value of a Commodity 86
   (b) The Use-value of a Commodity 91
   (c) Exchange-value or Value in Exchange 92
B. The Forms of Value or the Expressions of Value as Exchange-value
   (The Determinate Being of Value) 94
   (a) The Simple Form of Value 94
(b) The Expanded Form of Value 99
(c) The General Form of Value 101

C. Money Prices or Values in the Form of Money (The Being-for-Self of Value) 105
(a) Money as the Value-reflector 105
(b) Money Prices or the Money Form of Value 108
(c) The Social Cohesion of all Values 111

2 The Form of Money (Quantity) 115
The Hegel Correspondence 117
A. Money's Function as the Measure of Value (Money as Pure Quantity) 119
(a) Money as the Means of Purchase 119
(b) The Formation of Normal Prices 121
(c) The Source of the Means of Purchase 124
B. Money's Function as the Medium of Circulation (Money as Quantum) 126
(a) The Chain of Commodity Transactions 126
(b) The Circulation of Money 130
(c) Currency or the Institutional Medium of Circulation 134
C. Money's Function as the Store of Value 138
(a) The Formation of Idle Money 138
(b) Money as the Means of Payment 141
(c) Funds or Universal Money 146

3 The Form of Capital (Measure) 150
The Hegel Correspondence 152
A. The Form of Merchant Capital (Capital as Specific Quantum) 154
(a) The General Formula for Capital 154
(b) The Activity of Merchant Capital 157
(c) The Limitation of Merchant Capital 160
B. The Form of Money-Lending Capital (Capital as the Measureless) 162
(a) The Nature of Money-lending Capital 162
(b) The Activity of Money-lending Capital 165
(c) The Limitation of Money-lending Capital 168
C. The Form of Industrial Capital (Capital as Absolute Indifference) 170
(a) The Nature of Industrial Capital 170
PART 2
The Doctrine of Production (The Essence of Capital)

Introductory Remarks 185

4 The Production-process of Capital (Intro-Reflection) 191
   Introduction 191
   The Hegel Correspondence 194
   A. The Labour-and-Production Process (The Foundation of Capitalist Production) 196
      (a) The Labour-process and the Production-process 196
      (b) The Dual Nature of Productive Labour 203
      (c) Surplus Labour and Necessary Labour 208
   B. The Value-Formation-and-Augmentation Process (The Existence of Capitalist Production) 215
      (a) The Labour Theory of Value 215
      (b) The Viability of Capitalist Society 223
      (c) The Necessity of the Law of Value 234
   C. The Development of the Capitalist Method of Production:
      Labour-Power as a Commodity (The Thing-in-Itself of Capitalist Production) 241
      (a) The Rate of Surplus Value 241
      (b) The Modern Factory System 251
      (c) The Form of Wages 256

5 The Circulation-process of Capital (Appearance) 264
   The Hegel Correspondence 268
   A. The Circular Motion of Capital (The Phenomenal World of Capital) 271
      (a) The Three Circuits of Capital 270
      (b) Productive Capital and Circulation-capital 279
      (c) The Costs of Circulation 288
   B. The Turnover of Capital (The Law of Phenomenon of Capital) 298
      (a) The Efficiency of Value Augmentation 298
(b) The Turnover of Constant Capital 306
(c) The Turnover of Variable Capital 312

C. The Circulation of Surplus Value (No Correspondence with Hegel's 'correlation') 319
(a) The Realisation of Surplus Value 319
(b) The Supply of the Monetary Commodity 323
(c) The Conversion of Surplus Value into Capital 326

6 The Reproduction-process of Capital (Actuality) 330
The Hegel Correspondence 333
A. The Reproduction of the Capitalist Production-relation (The Formal Necessity of Capitalism) 335
(a) The Production of Capital by Capital 335
(b) The Simple Reproduction of the Production-relation 339
(c) The Possibility of an Expanded Reproduction 344
B. The Reproduction of Goods as Commodities by Capital - The Reproduction-Schemes (The Real Possibility of Capitalism) 349
(a) The Material Aspect of Reproduction 349
(b) The Circulation of Money in the Reproduction-schemes 367
(c) The Replacement of Fixed Capital 382
C. The Actual Process of Capitalist Accumulation (The Unconditioned Actuality of Capitalism) 398
(a) The Organic Composition of Capital 398
(b) The Cyclical Accumulation of Capital 406
(c) The Value of Labour-power 415

VOLUME 2

PART 3
The Doctrine of Distribution (The Notion of Capital)

Introductory Remarks 427

7 The Theory of Profit (The Subjective Notion) 433
The Hegel Correspondence 437
A. The Rate of Profit (The Notion of Capital) 440
(a) Cost-price and the Rate of profit 440
(b) The Three Factors Influencing the Rate of Profit 446
(c) Inter-industrial Differences in the Rate of Profit 451

B. The Formation of Prices (The Judgement of Capital) 461
   (a) Production-prices and the Rate of Profit 461
   (b) The Law of Average Profit 507
   (c) The Law of Market Value 547

C. The Rate of Profit and Technical Progress (The Syllogism of Capital) 585
   (a) Surplus Profit Reflecting an Extra Surplus Value 585
   (b) The Law of the Falling Rate of Profit 602
   (c) The Exposition of the Internal Contradictions of Capitalism 623

8 The Theory of Rent (The Objective Notion) 645
  The Hegel Correspondence 649
  A. The First Form of Differential Rent (The Mechanical Relation) 651
     (a) Land and Landed Property 651
     (b) The Nature of Differential Rent I 657
     (c) The Regulation of Arable Land and Rent 666
  B. The Second Form of Differential Rent (The Chemical Relation) 675
     (a) The Nature of Differential Rent II 675
     (b) The Accumulation of Capital in Agriculture 682
     (c) Differential Rent Arising on the Least Fertile Land 692
  C. Absolute Rent (The Teleological Relation) 700
     (a) Landed Property and Absolute Rent 700
     (b) The Distribution of Surplus Value in Agriculture 708
     (c) Industrial Capital and Landed Property 718

9 The Theory of Interest (The Idea) 727
  The Hegel Correspondence 731
  A. Loan-Capital and Interest (Life) 733
     (a) Commercial Credit 733
     (b) Bank Credit 742
     (c) The Rate of Profit versus the Rate of Interest 757
  B. Commercial Capital and Its Profit (Cognition) 766
     (a) Commercial Capital and the Equalisation of the Rates of profit 766
     (b) The Cause of Commercial Profit 777
     (c) Commercial Capital and Loan-capital 786
C. Interest-Bearing Capital and the Completion of the Dialectic of Capital (The Absolute Idea) 796
   (a) The Conversion of Capital into a Commodity 796
   (b) The Class Structure of Capitalist Society 805
   (c) The Self-conclusiveness of the Dialectic of Capital 811

References 821
Index 825