Table of Contents

Preface

Elizabeth Dubois and Florian Martin-Bariteau...................... vii

Introduction

Citizenship in a Connected Canada

Elizabeth Dubois and Florian Martin-Bariteau...................... 1

Part I: Building an Inclusive Society in a Digital Context

1 Decolonizing Digital Spaces

Alexander Dirksen.............................................................. 23

2 Telling a Different Story: Canadian Citizens and Their Democracy in the Digital Age

Adelina Petit-Vouriot and Mike Morden................................. 41

3 Framing the Challenges of Digital Inclusion for Young Canadians

Leslie Regan Shade, Jane Bailey, Jacquelyn Burkell, Priscilla Regan, and Valerie Sleeves......................... 57

Part II: Building Democratic Institutions in a Digital Context

4 Government in the Connected Era

Kent Aitken........................................................................... 77

5 Data Governance: The Next Frontier of Digital Government Research and Practice

Amanda Clarke....................................................................... 97

6 The Conversation Canada: Not-for-Profit Journalism in a Time of Commercial Media Decline

Mary Lynn Young and Alfred Hermida.................................. 119

7 Influencing the Internet: Lobbyists and Interest Groups’ Impact on Digital Rights in Canada

Megan Beretta......................................................................... 135
Part III: Rethinking Legal Frameworks for the Digital Context

8 Consumers First, Digital Citizenry Second: Through the Gateway of Standard-Form Contracts
Marina Pavlović ................................................................. 157

9 A Human Rights-Based Approach to Data Protection in Canada
Teresa Scassa ................................................................. 173

10 Making Sense of the Canadian Digital Tax Debate
Michael Geist ................................................................. 189

11 Online Abuse, Chilling Effects, and Human Rights
Jonathon W. Penney ............................................................. 207

Conclusion
Next Steps for a Connected Canada
Elizabeth Dubois and Florian Martin-Bariteau ........................ 223

Contributors ........................................................................ 235

Index ........................................................................................ 243