Contents

Contributors xi
Foreword xiv
Preface xvii
Prologue: Heterodox economics: a future on what terms?
Jamie Morgan 1

1. Introduction: A new era of galvanization and energization for heterodox economics
   Lynne Chester and Tae-Hee Jo 57

2. Critics, outsiders, or simply economists?
   Revisiting the history of heterodox economics
   Danielle Guizzo 112

3. Cambridge social ontology and the reconstruction of economic theory
   Nuno Ornelas Martins 149

4. Heterodox economics and ideology
   Tae-Hee Jo 204
5. On some limits to pluralism
   Carlo D’Ippoliti 252

6. Towards interdisciplinarity as instinctive
   Ben Fine 290

7. Taking the institutions and communities of heterodox economics forward
   Jamie Morgan 326

Epilogue 352