Competing Claims in Work and Family Life

Edited by

Tanja van der Lippe
Professor of Sociology
Utrecht University, The Netherlands

Pascale Peters
Assistant Professor of Strategic Human Resource Management
Radboud University Nijmegen, The Netherlands

Edward Elgar
Cheltenham, UK • Northampton, MA, USA
Contents

Contributors vii
Preface xv

1. Finding time 1
Tanja van der Lippe and Pascale Peters

PART I TRENDS IN TIME USE AND TIME PRESSURE

2. Time pressure and quality of life 21
Manfred Garhammer

Liana C. Sayer

4. Odd working hours and time pressure 57
Koen Breedveld

5. Under pressure: time and time pressure in Flanders 73
Maarten Moens

PART II WORKPLACE AND HOUSEHOLD RELATED CAUSES

6. Trading off or having it all? Workers' preferences for work and family time 93
Judith Treas and Christin Hilgeman

7. Employees' preferences for longer or shorter working hours 109
Kea G. Tijdens

8. The puzzle of unpaid overtime: can the time greediness of post-fordist work be explained? 125
Patricia van Echtelt, Arié C. Glebbeek, Rudi Wielers and Siegwart Lindenberg
9. Working time, client time and family time: accounting for time in the accountancy profession
   Suzan Lewis

10. Labour supply: the effects of employer demands and household governance
    Philip Wotschack, Jacques Siegers, Babette Pouwels and Rafael Wittek

PART III ORGANIZATIONAL AND HOUSEHOLD SOLUTIONS TO TIME PRESSURE

11. Trading time and money: explaining employee participation and leave choices in a flexible benefit plan
    Carlien Hillebrink, Joop Schippers, Pascale Peters and Anneke van Doorne-Huiskes

12. Household outsourcing: a transaction cost approach
    Esther de Ruijter and Tanja van der Lippe

13. Time competition in home-based telework: a theoretical framework
    Peter Standen

    Pascale Peters and Tanja van der Lippe

    David T. Ory and Patricia L. Mokhtarian

Index