

830 692 819

The Politics of Power Sector Reforms in India

NIRANJAN SAHOO

PENTAGON PRESS
in association with
Observer Research Foundation

CONTENTS

1.	BACKGROUND OF THE STUDY	1
2.	GENESIS OF A STATE CONTROLLED POWER SECTOR	3
2.1	State Capture of Power Sector: Broad Context	6
2.1.1	Beginning of the Politics of 'Free Power'	7
2.1.2	Farmer's Movement and the Politics of Power Subsidy	9
2.1.3	SEBs as 'Holy Cow' of Power Politics	10
2.2	Implications of State Capture of Power Sector	13
3.	THE NEW ECONOMIC POLICIES AND POWER SECTOR REFORMS	14
3.1	The Early Reform Flings	15
3.2	The First Salvo: The IIP Paradigm	16
3.2.1	An Appraisal of the IIP Model	18
3.2.2	Role of Incentives and Interests	19
3.3	State Driven Reform Process	21
3.3.1	Orissa Leads the Way	21
3.3.2	Scaling up the Orissa Model	23
3.4	Consolidation of State-Level Reforms: Centre Leading the Way	24
3.4.1	Selling Reforms to Chief Ministers	25
3.4.2	Central Electricity Act	26
3.4.3	Other Important Milestones	26
4.	THE REFORMS SO FAR: A BALANCE SHEET	27
5.	WHY POWER REFORM IS A DAUNTING TASK	31
5.1	Reforms and Political Commitment	31
5.2	Reforms and Democratic Compulsions	33

5.3 Rents, Corruption and Election Funds	35
5.4 Politics of Subsidy	36
5.5 The Bureaucracy and Vested Interest Groups	38
5.6 Centre's Diminishing Leverage	39
5.7 Crisis of Credibility	41
6. PROSPECTS FOR REFORMS	43
Notes	48
References	58