Chinese Family Business and the Equal Inheritance System
Unravelling the myth

Victor Zheng
Contents

List of figures and tables xi
Acknowledgements xiii
Abbreviations xv

Introduction: unravelling the myth 1

1 Equal inheritance and family business continuity 5

The problem of continuity 5
Perceptions of family business 7
The interconnectedness of Chinese, family and business 13
Theoretical framework and research objectives 15

2 Methodology and sketches of the studied families 22

Formation of the research idea 22
Fieldwork and methodology 23
Data collection 24
Sketches of the Chaozhou families 26
Sketches of the long-established families 31

3 The transfer of economic capital 47

Fight for the family estate 47
Family and business: divided or united? 53
Arrangement for succession 58
Exercising family control 66
The essence of family ownership 69
Contents

4 The transfer of human capital

Education and leadership as human capital 71
Educational attainment of the Chaozhou families 74
Educational attainment of the long-established families 79
Education and family business 84
Establishing leadership 90
Passing the leadership baton 93
The essence of leadership 96

5 The transfer of social capital

Personal connections as social capital 98
Extending the connections 101
Forming marriage alliances 104
Participation in charity and politics 114
The essence of social capital 124

6 Equal inheritance and economic development

Equal inheritance and the dynamism of family business 127
Equal inheritance and internal competition 132
Family adaptation and business diversification 136
Unconventional path of growth 140
Equal inheritance and jiazu jituan 147
Equal inheritance and economic development 149

Appendix: background of the studied Chaozhou families 153

Glossary 169
Bibliography 181
Index 194