PROFESSIONAL ACCOMPANIMENT MODEL FOR CHANGE FOR INNOVATIVE LEADERSHIP

Louise Lafortune
with Chantale Lepage, Franca Persechino, Kathleen Bélanger and Avril Aitken

Preface by Sylvie Turcotte
Afterword by Margaret Rioux-Dolan

With the participation of
Nicole Boisvert, Karine Boisvert-Grenier, Bernard Cotnoir, Bérénice Fiset, Sylvie Fréchette, Grant Hawley, Carine Lachapelle, Nathalie Lafranchise, Reineide Landry, Carrole Lebel, France Plouffe and Gilbert Smith

2009

Presses de l'Université du Québec
Le Delta I, 2875, boul. Laurier, bur. 450 Québec (Québec) Canada G1V 2M2
TABLE OF CONTENTS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Preface</td>
<td>vii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Acknowledgments</td>
<td>xi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

PART 1

Premises for the Development of the Professional Accompaniment Model for Change

CHAPTER 1

Foundations and Concepts Related to the Accompaniment Model

- Content Associated with the Change .............................................. 9
- Accompaniment ............................................................................. 10
- Socioconstructivism .................................................................... 13
- Ćompetencies and Development of Competencies ............................. 16
Metacognition and Reflective Practice ........................................ 19

Metacognition ................................................................. 19
Reflective practice .......................................................... 21
Accompaniment Leadership ............................................... 22

CHAPTER 2
Accompaniment Aim and Intentions ...................................... 25
Aim: Accompany the Implementation of a Prescribed and Directed Change ......................................................... 25
First Intention: Develop Accompaniment Leadership ............. 28
  Setting Up a Professional Accompaniment Process .............. 29
  Developing Professional Competencies
  for Change Accompaniment ............................................ 30
Second Intention:
Engage in Reflective-Interactive Practice .......................... 35
  Engaging in the Change .................................................. 36
  Promoting the Creation of Networks Conducive to Building Reflective Practice and Learning Communities ........................................... 37
Third Intention: Spur Professional Collaboration .................. 39
  Supporting Work in Teams of Colleagues ........................... 39
Fourth Intention: Develop Professional Judgment ................. 42
  Provide Accompaniment for Evaluation Purposes with a View to Helping Develop Competencies .................. 43
Fifth Intention: Enrich the Knowledge Culture ...................... 44
  Establish Close Connections between Theory and Practice ......................................... 45
Sixth Intention: Initiate Action
from a Reflective-Interactive Perspective ........................... 46
  Provide Accompaniment for Action Plans ......................... 47

CHAPTER 3
Accompaniment-Research-Training
for Change Implementation ............................................... 51
Accompaniment-Training .................................................. 52
Accompaniment-Research ............................................... 53
Table of Contents

Integrating Accompaniment, Research, and Training .......... 55
Facilitation, Training, Accompaniment, and Research .......... 56
Emergent Theory Building ............................................. 58

CHAPTER 4

The Organization of Accompaniment .................................. 63
Main Actions to Be Taken ............................................ 63
Organizational Flexibility and Rigor .................................. 66
Accompaniment Modeled on the Spirit of the Change ............. 72

Interventions Tailored to the Path of Accompanied Groups .... 72

Professional Collaboration in Organizing Interventions ........ 73

Cofacilitation .......................................................... 74

CHAPTER 5

Work Sequence for Meetings within an Accompaniment Process ................................................................. 75

Before the Start: Planning a Meeting within an Accompaniment Process ......................................................... 75

Preliminary Steps ....................................................... 76
Drawing Up a General Work Plan ................................... 77
Drawing Up a Detailed Work Plan ................................... 77
Predicting ...................................................................... 78

Development of Worksheets or Reflection Forms ............... 78

Designing and Developing Accompaniment Situations ......... 79

Visual Aids .............................................................. 79

Individual or Team Preparation ....................................... 80

Discussions with Colleagues during Preparation ............... 80

While Action Is Underway:

Respecting the Spirit of Accompaniment ............................... 81

Greeting Participants .................................................... 81

Taking Quick Action ..................................................... 82

Personal Goal and Moments of Reflection ......................... 82
Worksheets and Reflection Forms ........................................ 83
Pace and Sequence of Various Tasks .............................. 87
Synthesis ........................................................................ 87
Reformulation .................................................................. 88
Looking At All Aspects of Interaction ........................... 88
Presentation of Past or Future Accompaniment
Experiences and Feedback ............................................. 88
Interaction ....................................................................... 90

During and At the End Process:
Promoting Reflection and Adjustment ............................ 90
Reflective Review ............................................................ 91
Starting a New Subject .................................................... 91
Ending with Listening Time .......................................... 91
Professional Development Evidence As a Spur to Reflective Writing ..................................................... 92

At the End and After: Reflecting on Action ...................... 93
Postaccompaniment Reflection: Evidence to Keep ............ 94
Detailed Work Plan, As It Was Carried Out ..................... 94
Meeting Summary ......................................................... 94
Writing an Accompaniment Report .............................. 95

Actions between Two Accompaniment Sessions: Followup 95
Followup ........................................................................ 95
Training Actions ............................................................. 96

CHAPTER 6
Reflective Practice .......................................................... 97
The Meaning of Reflective Practice ............................... 98
The Functions of Reflective Practice .............................. 99
The Components of Reflective Practice ......................... 100
First Component: Reflecting on and Analyzing One’s Practice ..................................... 100
Second Component: Transferring Learning and Reviewing Experiences ......................................... 101
Third Component: Developing an Adaptive Model of Practice .................................................................. 103
Table of Contents

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Stepping Back from One's Practice</td>
<td>104</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A Context That Facilitates Reflection about Changing Practices</td>
<td>105</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

CHAPTER 7
Ways to Facilitate Accompaniment and Reflective Practice       | 107  |
| Tasks, Accompaniment Situations, and Situation Families       | 107  |
| Website Development                                           | 108  |
| Accompaniment Journal                                         | 109  |
| Questioning                                                   | 111  |
| Self-Evaluation                                               | 112  |
| Modeling                                                     | 113  |
| Support for Practice Analysis                                 | 114  |
| Model Building                                                | 115  |

PART 2
An Experiential Model of Professional Accompaniment

CHAPTER 8
Conditions Conducive to Change Accompaniment                   | 119  |
| Conceptual Background Associated with Conditions               | 120  |
| Conducive to Change Accompanment                               | 120  |
| Socioconstructivist Accompaniment                          | 120  |
| Professional Competencies for Accompaniment                | 121  |
| Accompaniment Leadership                                   | 121  |
| Accompaniment Process                                      | 121  |
| Implementing Socioconstructivist Accompaniment                 | 122  |
| Fostering Interaction during the Accompaniment Process     | 123  |
| Providing Accompaniment That Models What Accompanied Individuals Will Have to Achieve in Their Own Accompaniment | 123  |
| Providing Accompaniment to Ensure Continuity and Followup | 124  |
Using Predictions As an Accompaniment Meeting Preparation Tool .................................................. 124
Integrating Facilitation and Training into the Accompaniment Process ............................................. 125
Making Accompaniment Part of Professional Development ................................................................. 126
Maintaining Reassuring Dissonance (Reassuring in Affective Terms, Dissonant in Cognitive Terms)...... 127
Making Connections between Theory and Practice ...... 127
Evidence Keeping .................................................. 128
Evaluating the Change Process ......................................... 129
Making Professional Collaboration Part of the Change Process ............................................................ 129
Working toward Reflective Practice......................................... 130
Considering Reflective Practice As a Component of Accompaniment ................................................ 130
Reflecting On and Analyzing One's Practices ............. 131
Ensuring Action Is Taken ............................................. 131
Model Building around Practice Change ...................... 132
Modeling Reflective Practice ........................................ 133
Aiming for the Development of Professional Competencies for Change Accompaniment ....................... 133
Fostering Reflection on the Professional Competencies to Be Developed to Accompany Change ............. 133
Encouraging the Development of Professional Competencies for Accompaniment among Workers Engaged in the Change Process So They Can, in Turn, Accompany Others in Their Organizations .......... 134
Developing a Stance As an Accompaniment Provider That Shows That You Are Engaged in a Process to Develop Professional Competencies to Accompany Change ................................................. 135
Working toward Accompaniment Leadership...................... 135
Spurring Action Consistent with the Change .............. 136
Ensuring Cohesion, Coherence, and Shared Comprehension of the Change .......................................... 136
Table of Contents

Developing a Workplace Culture in Keeping with the Change .................................................. 137

Aiming for Partnerships ........................................................................................................... 138

Encouraging the Formation of Learning and Practice Communities or Networks ............. 139

Taking the Affective Domain into Consideration When Accompanying Change ............... 140

CHAPTER 9

Building a Professional Accompaniment Model for Change ................................................. 143

Representation of a Model ........................................................................................................... 143

Using Diagrams ............................................................................................................................ 144

What Is a Model? ........................................................................................................................... 145

A Professional Accompaniment Model for Change ................................................................. 146

Interaction: Dynamics, Roles and Duties ............................................................................... 149

Accompaniment Characteristics ............................................................................................... 163

Means Used for Accompaniment ............................................................................................... 169

CHAPTER 10

Outcomes: Professional Development with a View to Organizational Change ................... 177

Contribution to Structuring a Professional Identity ..................................................................... 178

Developing a Feeling of Professional Competence ................................................................. 178

Taking Ownership of the Change and Understanding It ......................................................... 179

Clarifying Roles and Duties .................................................................................................... 179

Recognizing the Importance of Professional Collaboration ............................................... 180

Updating Practices in Connection with the Change .................................................................... 182

Risk-Taking and Innovation .................................................................................................... 182

Professional Progress and Development of Professional Competencies for Change Accompaniment .................................................................................................................. 182

Moving beyond Ad Hoc Training ............................................................................................ 183

Updating Models of Practice .................................................................................................... 184

Promoting the Model in Accompanied Workplaces ................................................................. 185