

1101 456108

ISSN 1433-0202

Beiträge und Informationen aus dem Ostseeinstitut für Marketing, Verkehr und Tourismus an der Universität Rostock

Heft 27

CRUISE AND FERRY PASSENGER SHIPPING ON THE BALTIC SEA

Mass tourism and/or product differentiation?

Baltic Maritime Symposium 09
18/19 May 2009

Rostock, Germany

Rostock 2009

Table of contents

I.	Foreword.....	5
II.	Opening and Welcome	7
2.1	Breitzmann, Karl-Heinz: Opening remarks	7
2.2	Methling, Roland: Welcome note.....	11
III.	Session 2: World-wide cruise trends between mass tourism & product differentiation – do they hold true for the Baltic waters?	13
3.1	Wild, Peter: A comparative analysis of cruise tourism trends and prospects	13
3.2	Kunze, Hansjörg: Double product differentiation – AIDA concept for German speaking markets	27
3.3	Tercek, John: World-wide cruise developments and Royal Caribbean approaches for Europe and the Baltic.....	40
3.4	Weigend, Thomas: Trends in cruise vessel design – solution for mass tourism and product differentiation.....	65
3.5	Larsen, Bo: Cruise trends in the Baltic Sea as an attractive destination	95
IV.	Session 3: Larger and smaller Baltic cruise ports and their adaptation.....	110
4.1	Schubert, David: Cruise development in Ports of Stockholm and future challenges and possibilities	110
4.2	Hinno, Helen: Tallinn as a leading cruise port – adaptations to requirements of operators and passengers.....	120
4.3	Bauermeister, Ulrich: Baltic cruise development from a German port perspective – offers and potentials of Rostock.....	132
4.4	Gontier, Kristina: Drivers for cruise shipping development in medium size ports – strategy in Klaipeda.....	142
V.	Session 4: Baltic ferry passenger shipping – troubled waters and new markets.....	154
5.1	Takolander, Kaj: The Ropax concept – a growing concept in the Baltic	154
5.2	Waszczenko, Piotr: Prospects of Baltic North-South ferry traffic and the strategy of Unity Line	170
5.3	Havemann, Frank: Ferry Shipping in troubled waters – a network carrier's view on Baltic passenger development	179

VI.	Session 5: Shore excursions – growing challenges by mass tourism and product differentiation.....	185
6.1	Kisseleva, Victoria: Shore excursions in Saint-Petersburg – challenges in a growing market.....	185
6.2	Kordt, Arthur: Cruising Scandinavia and the UK – excursions, facilities and challenges towards 2015.....	202
6.3	Antoni, Peter: Shore excursions in Germany - challenges of working with American cruise lines past, present & future!	212
VII.	Session 6: Students’ special	221
7.1	Künstner, Christiane: Theme cruises and their impact for shore excursion operators	221
VIII.	Conclusions and Farewell	227
8.1	Breitzmann, Karl-Heinz: Conference outcomes and conclusions.....	227
8.2	Seidel, Jürgen: Farewell Address	230
IX.	Conference Programme	233
X.	Sponsors	237
XI.	Bibliography	239