Ursa Müller

Private Antitrust Damages Actions in the US, Germany and at the European Community Level

Americanisation or Europeanisation of Antitrust Laws and Their Extraterritorial Enforcement Under Recent Reform Initiatives

Verlag Dr. Kovač

Hamburg 2010
A. Introduction – Private antitrust enforcement and its role and function in the international fight against hardcore cartels ........................................ 1

B. Institutional Framework of US Antitrust Law ........................................ 9
   I. US Antitrust legislation – the international role model ......................... 11
      1. The Sherman Act ........................................................................ 11
      2. The Clayton Act ........................................................................ 14
      3. Federal Trade Commission Act (FTCA) – Unfair methods of Competition ........................................................................... 15
      4. Robinson Patman Act .................................................................. 15
      5. Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act (HSR Act) ............. 16
      6. The US Leniency Program .......................................................... 17
   II. US Antitrust authorities and their powers ....................................... 23
      1. The Department of Justice (DOJ) and its Antitrust Division b
         – criminal and civil enforcement .............................................. 23
      3. The State Attorneys General – public and private enforcement ............................................................................ 28
      4. The Federal District Courts ........................................................... 29

C. Private antitrust enforcement in the US: rationales, incentives, prerequisites and implications ............................................................ 31
   I. Rationales for private treble damages actions .............................. 31
      1. Compensation ............................................................................ 32
      2. Punishment ............................................................................... 33
      3. Detection .................................................................................. 33
      4. Deterrence ............................................................................... 35
   II. Incentives for efficient private antitrust litigation ......................... 36
      1. Mandatory trebling of damages ................................................. 37
      2. Pre-trial discovery as facilitation of proof ................................. 39
      3. Prima facie evidence rule to promote follow-on actions .............. 40
      4. Suspension of limitation period ............................................... 43
      5. Class actions ........................................................................... 44
      6. Recoverability of cost of suit, statutory attorney’s fees and contingent fee agreements ....................................................... 45
   III. Prerequisites for private damages actions under Section 4
      Clayton Act and implications ....................................................... 49
      1. Injury to business or property ................................................... 51
      2. Antitrust injury ......................................................................... 52
      3. Passing-on and the indirect purchaser doctrine .......................... 58
      4. Causation ............................................................................... 70
1. Types of damage and their quantification and proof ............................................. 171
2. The passing-on defence: unclear legislation, burden of proof and potential guidance by ECJ case-law .............................................................. 198
3. Indirect purchasers standing ............................................................................. 209

V. Collective enforcement of antitrust damages actions: enhancing the general efficiency of private antitrust litigation and consumer welfare .............................................................. 220
   1. Indirect purchaser/consumer claims: Representative actions by consumer protection associations as class-action equivalent ........................................ 222
   2. Competitor and direct purchaser claims: facilitation of claim aggregation/consolidation ................................................................. 225

VI. Further practical implications of the promotion of private enforcement ........................................................................................................ 232
   1. High standard of care to avoid liability ............................................................ 232
   2. Cause of action below de minimis threshold ..................................................... 233

VII. Summary ........................................................................................................... 234

E. Institutional Framework of European Competition Law .................................. 235

I. European Competition Law legislation and its recent modernisation .............. 237
   1. Article 81 EC .................................................................................................. 240
   2. Article 82 EC .................................................................................................. 242
   3. Merger Control .............................................................................................. 243
   4. Block Exemptions ......................................................................................... 245
   5. Leniency Notice ............................................................................................ 247

II. The relevant European Institutions and their powers ......................................... 249
   1. The European Commission and its Directorate General for Competition – administrative enforcement .................................................. 250
   2. The European Court of Justice (ECJ) ............................................................. 254
   3. The Court of First Instance (CFI) ................................................................. 255
   4. The European Competition Network (ECN) .................................................. 255

III. Private competition law enforcement at the EC level ....................................... 256
   1. Complete underdevelopment of private enforcement in the Community – the Ashurst Study .......................................................... 258
   2. Envisaged facilitation of private damages actions at a European level ........ 258
   3. Key aspects to be addressed by provisions promoting private antitrust damages at a European level and potential options ... 262

IV. Summary ........................................................................................................... 297
F. The international dimension: Extraterritoriality, comity and potential implications for international private antitrust enforcement

I. Territorial jurisdiction and its limits

II. International cooperation and comity

III. Relevance of extraterritoriality for private enforcement

IV. Extraterritorial application of US antitrust law and its effect on private antitrust enforcement

1. The effects-doctrine: judicial and legislative approach to establish subject matter jurisdiction of the US antitrust laws

2. Comity considerations

3. Restrictive interpretation of the FTAIA: Den Norske, Krumann and Empagran

4. The AMC on extraterritoriality and comity

V. Extraterritorial outreach US-Style of German competition law enforcement

1. Effects doctrine under Section 130(2) ARC

2. Judicial specification of the effects doctrine and limitation of extraterritorial jurisdiction

3. International law limits to extraterritorial jurisdiction

VI. Extraterritorial jurisdiction under European Competition Law

1. No explicit adoption, but use of the effects doctrine by the Commission

2. Explicit adoption of effects doctrine by Advocates-General

3. No explicit adoption of the effects doctrine by ECJ and CFI

4. Comity after Empagran and Intel?

5. Forum-shopping in private damages actions: Provimi

G. Suggestions for effective private antitrust enforcement and summary

I. Further convergence of antitrust laws

II. Balancing individual and public enforcement interests

III. Summary

Bibliography