

906 665 908 ✓

RECONSTRUCTING the WORLD ECONOMY

Papers Presented at a Joint Conference of the Korea Development Institute and the International Monetary Fund

Olivier Blanchard and Il SaKong
Editors

B 372711

Contents

Foreword ix

Acknowledgments xiii

About the Authors xv

SECTION I EXIT STRATEGIES FOR ANTI-CRISIS MEASURES 1

1	A Strategy for Renormalizing Fiscal and Monetary Policies in Advanced Economies.....	3
	Carlo Cottarelli and José Viñals
	1.1. Introduction.....	3
	1.2. Scale of the Problem.....	5
	1.3. Returning to Normalcy.....	9
	1.4. Timing and Coordination.....	18
	1.5. References.....	20
	Appendix. Advanced Economies: Monetary Crisis Intervention Policies.....	21
	Authors' Comments and Discussion.....	21

SECTION II REDESIGNING THE MACRO FRAMEWORK..... 23

2	Rethinking Macroeconomic Policy.....	25
	Olivier Blanchard, Giovanni Dell'Ariccia, and Paolo Mauro
	2.1. Introduction.....	25
	2.2. What We Thought We Knew.....	25
	2.3. What We Have Learned from the Crisis.....	29
	2.4. Implications for the Design of Policy.....	32
	2.5. Conclusion.....	38
	2.6. References.....	39
3	"Rethinking Macroeconomic Policy": Comments.....	41
	Yung Chul Park
	3.1. Inflation Targeting.....	41
	3.2. Financial Intermediation.....	43
	3.3. Sterilized Intervention.....	43
	3.4. References.....	44
4	Toward a Stability-Oriented Policy Framework.....	45
	Jürgen Stark
	4.1. The Reference Model.....	45
	4.2. Inflation Targeting.....	46
	4.3. Risk Management.....	46
	4.4. Asset Prices and Monetary Policy.....	47

4.5. Fiscal Policy.....	48
4.6. Conclusion: Some Lessons.....	48
Appendix.....	49

SECTION III THE FUTURE FINANCIAL SYSTEM..... 53

5	Redesigning the Contours of the Future Financial System.....	55
	Laura Kodres and Aditya Narain
	5.1. Executive Summary.....	55
	5.2. Introduction.....	56
	5.3. What Went Wrong.....	58
	5.4. Principal (and Principled) Changes to the Regulatory Environment.....	59
	5.5. The Future of the Financial System: Action and Reaction to the Crisis and Regulatory Reforms.....	62
	5.6. The Role of the IMF.....	68
	5.7. Conclusion.....	69
6	Comments on “Redesigning the Contours of the Future Financial System”.....	71
	Philip Lowe
7	Discussion of “Redesigning the Contours of the Future Financial System”.....	75
	Hyun Song Shin

SECTION IV GLOBAL IMBALANCES: IN MIDSTREAM..... 81

8	Global Imbalances: In Midstream?.....	83
	Olivier Blanchard and Gian Maria Milesi-Ferretti
	8.1. Introduction.....	83
	8.2. Global Imbalances: Good or Bad?.....	84
	8.3. So Good or Bad? An Interpretation of Recent History.....	87
	8.4. The Crisis and the Future.....	96
	8.5. Policy Implications.....	100
	8.6. References.....	102
	Appendix. The Evolution of Imbalances.....	103
9	Comment on “Global Imbalances: In Midstream?”.....	107
	Charles Bean
10	Comments on Dealing with Global Imbalances.....	111
	Justin Yifu Lin and Mansoor Dailami
	10.1. Are Global Current Account Imbalances a Threat to the Recovery or to Global Financial Stability?.....	112
	10.2. What Sorts of Policy Actions Are Needed to Reduce Imbalances? How Effective Would These Actions Be in Reducing Imbalances?.....	115
	10.3. From a Global Political Economy Viewpoint, Can Countries Be Convinced to Take These Actions?.....	119
	10.4. References.....	120

SECTION V	FUTURE OF THE INTERNATIONAL MONETARY SYSTEM	121
11	The Debate on the International Monetary System Isabelle Mateos y Lago, Rupa Duttgupta, and Rishi Goyal	123
	11.1. Executive Summary	123
	11.2. Introduction	123
	11.3. What Is Wrong With Today's System?	124
	11.4. Lowering the Demand for Reserves	127
	11.5. Supplying Other Reserve Currencies	134
	11.6. Conclusion	141
	11.7. References	142
12	Remarks on "The Debate on the International Monetary System" Changyong Rhee	143
	12.1. Demand-Side Responses	144
	12.2. Supply-Side Responses	145