

LEGAL ASPECTS OF
ECONOMIC INTEGRATION
IN AFRICA

RICHARD FRIMPONG OPPONG

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

CONTENTS

List of tables	page xi
Acknowledgements	xii
Table of treaties	xiii
Table of cases (international/regional courts)	xviii
Table of cases (national courts)	xxiii
List of abbreviations	xxviii

Introduction	1
---------------------	----------

1 Africa's economic integration – an introductory overview	6
1.1 Introduction	6
1.2 Relational issues and Africa's integration	12
1.3 Selected RECs – an overview	14
1.3.1 African Economic Community	17
1.3.2 Economic Community of West African States	22
1.3.3 The Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa	23
1.3.4 East African Community	24
1.3.5 Southern African Development Community	25
1.4 Socio-economic matrix of Africa's economic integration	26
1.5 Conclusion	29
2 Legal framework for managing relational issues	30
2.1 Introduction	30
2.2 Relational issues, public and private international law	32
2.3 Economic community as a legal system	37
2.4 Relational principles and mechanisms for economic integration	39
2.4.1 Community autonomy as the foundation of relations	40
2.4.2 Direct applicability of community law	42
2.4.3 Direct effect of community law	44
2.4.4 Supremacy of community law	47
2.4.5 Preliminary reference procedure	48
2.4.6 Individuals' participation and standing	51

2.4.7	Inter-system jurisprudential communication	53
2.4.8	Interpretive and adjudicative relational principles	55
2.4.9	Recognition and enforcement of foreign normative acts	58
2.5	Relational principles – features and importance of context	59
2.6	Conclusion	62
3	The AU, AEC and regional economic communities	64
3.1	Introduction	64
3.2	Existing regulatory legal framework	66
3.3	Inter-community relational issues	69
3.3.1	Legal status of AEC within the AU and RECs	69
3.3.2	Future merger of the regional economic communities	72
3.3.3	Conflict of laws and jurisdictions	76
3.3.4	Multiple membership and inter-community relations	77
3.4	Conclusion	81
4	Community–state relations in Africa’s economic integration	82
4.1	Introduction	82
4.2	Legal status of the AEC	84
4.2.1	AEC as a legal system	84
4.2.2	AEC and member states’ sovereignty	88
4.3	Supremacy of AEC law	92
4.3.1	Response of national courts	97
4.3.2	Political reaction	102
4.4	Harmonization of law	106
4.4.1	Differences in national laws	106
4.4.2	Paths to harmonization of laws	111
4.5	Conclusion	115
5	Relational issues before the community courts	117
5.1	Introduction	117
5.2	Organization and jurisdiction	118
5.2.1	Structure of the community courts	119
5.2.2	Subject-matter jurisdiction	124
5.2.3	Standing and preconditions	128
5.3	Emerging jurisprudence	133
5.3.1	Mwatela v. East Africa Community	134
5.3.2	Anyang’ Nyong’o v. AG of the Republic of Kenya (I and II)	135
5.3.3	Eastern and Southern African Trade and Development Bank v. Ogang	138
5.3.4	Olajide Afolabi v. Federal Republic of Nigeria	138
5.3.5	Mike Campbell v. Republic of Zimbabwe	139

5.4	Community courts' jurisprudence and economic integration	142
5.4.1	Role of individuals	142
5.4.2	Role of national courts	149
5.4.3	Role of public international law	156
5.4.4	Sovereignty and inter-institutional relational problems	159
5.5	Conclusion	164
6	AU/AEC institutions and the enforcement of community law	165
6.1	Introduction	165
6.2	Institutions for the enforcement of AEC law	166
6.2.1	Executive institutions	166
6.2.2	Pan-African Parliament	169
6.2.3	African Court of Justice	171
6.3	AU institutions doubling as AEC institutions	183
6.4	Looking beyond institutions	185
6.5	Conclusion	186
7	Implementing community law in African states	188
7.1	Introduction	188
7.2	Community treaties and community law implementation	189
7.2.1	Direct applicability of community law	190
7.2.2	Direct effect of community law	195
7.2.3	'Automatically enforceable' community law	196
7.2.4	Protecting implemented community laws	200
7.3	National laws and community law implementation	203
7.3.1	National constitutions and community law	203
7.3.2	National judicial philosophy and community law	215
7.3.3	National legal culture and community law	222
7.4	Conclusion	227
8	Inter-institutional relations: public–private international law dimensions	229
8.1	Introduction	229
8.2	Inter-institutional relational issues	231
8.2.1	Arbitration in community courts – jurisdiction, choice of law and enforcement	231
8.2.2	Enforcing judgments of community courts by national courts	244
8.2.3	Using national courts to enforce community judgments – challenges	249
8.2.4	Conflict of jurisdiction between community courts	255
8.2.5	Judicial cooperation between community and national courts	259

8.3 Model legislation on community judgments enforcement and judicial cooperation	264
8.3.1 Enforcement of Community Judgments Act	264
8.3.2 Judicial Cooperation with Community Courts Act	267
8.4 Conclusion	270
9 Interstate relations, economic transactions and private international law	271
9.1 Introduction	271
9.2 Function of private international law in communities	272
9.3 Measuring strength of interstate legal relations in Africa	275
9.3.1 Through a private international law lens	275
9.3.2 Through a comparative law lens	281
9.4 Private international law and economic transactions	285
9.4.1 History and relevance	285
9.4.2 Enforcement of foreign judgments	288
9.5 Developing a private international law regime to aid integration	298
9.5.1 State of existing regime	298
9.5.2 Role of various constituencies	302
9.5.3 Need for continental and international engagement	306
9.5.4 Values to inform Africa's private international law regime	308
9.6 Conclusion	309
10 Conclusion	310
10.1 The current state of affairs	310
10.2 Moving forward	318
Bibliography	320
Index	346