

Achim Schlüter

Economics, Institutions and the Environment

Schriften aus dem Institut für Forstökonomie
Band 33

Contents:

List of Figures, Boxes and Tables	VI
Zusammenfassung	VII
Summary	X

Part I: Synthesis

1	Introduction.....	2
2	The Issue.....	5
2.1	Economics	5
2.2	Institutions.....	9
2.2.1	Institutions as the centre of interest.....	9
2.2.2	Economic and other institutionalisms	12
2.3	The environment.....	15
3	The approach: a theory of science perspective	19
3.1	Deduction, induction & abduction	19
3.1.1	Deduction	19
3.1.2	Induction.....	20
3.1.3	Abduction.....	21
3.1.4	The necessity for multiple reasoning.....	21
3.2	Methodological individualism vs. holism	24
3.2.1	Neoclassical methodological individualism.....	25
3.2.2	Methodological holism.....	27
3.2.3	Accepting a mutual dependence of institutions and players	28
3.3	Disciplinarity, interdisciplinarity and transdisciplinarity	29
3.3.1	Disciplinarity and their meanings	29
3.3.2	The need to move beyond disciplines	31
4	Conclusion: environmental institutional economics: a path required.....	34
5	The applied approach.....	37
5.1	The individual path.....	37
5.2	The synopsis	39
5.2.1	The content.....	39

5.2.2	Deduction, induction & abduction	43
5.2.3	Methodological individualism vs. holism	44
5.2.4	Disciplinarity, interdisciplinarity & transdisciplinarity	45
5.2.5	Summary	48
5.3	The individual contribution to joint publications	49
5.4	Current status of the papers	52
6	Bibliography	54

Part II: the papers

1	Enough is Enough: Emerging 'Self-Help' Environmentalism in a Petrochemical Town	66
1.1	Introduction	67
1.2	Background: the Research and the Setting	68
1.3	Local Activism	69
1.4	Local Reasoning and Explanation	72
1.5	Conceptualising Local Activism	74
1.5.1	Douglas in Grangemouth?	74
1.5.2	An Environmental Justice Movement in Grangemouth?	76
1.5.3	Insiders and Outsiders in Grangemouth?	81
1.6	Conclusion	83
1.7	References	85
2	Rationalising risk: arguing over safety on the Firth of Forth	88
2.1	Introduction	89
2.2	Regulators, science and politics	93
2.3	The world is not a fair place	96
2.4	Claims, fears and obligations	99
2.5	Concluding discussion	101
2.6	References	105
3	Institutional change in the forestry sector – The explanatory potential of New Institutional Economics	107
3.1	Introduction	108
3.2	Theories of institutional change	112
3.2.1	Competition as a determinant of institutional change	112

3.2.2	Ideology as a determinant of institutional change.....	114
3.3	Institutional change and the forestry sector: why is ideology important?.....	118
3.4	Conclusions: a more differentiated view.....	121
3.5	References	124
4	Institutional Change and Ecological Economics: The Role of Mental Models and Sufficient Reason	128
4.1	Introduction	129
4.2	Cognition within Institutional Economics and its Relevance for Ecological Economics.....	132
4.3	Cognition, Mental Models and Sufficient Reason	134
4.4	Mental models and Sufficient Reason; What is Different?.....	138
4.5	Methodological implications: investigating mental models and sufficient reason	143
4.6	Conclusions	151
4.7	References	152
5	Institutional Change and Qualitative Research: Methodological considerations for institutional economic empirical research.....	158
5.1	Introduction	159
5.2	The importance of qualitative data in theoretical development	161
5.3	Current theoretical developments and qualitative data	163
5.3.1	Rationalities and Qualitative Research.....	163
5.3.2	Cognition, Culture and Qualitative Research.....	166
5.4	Conclusions	169
5.5	References	171
6	Institutional change in the forest sector – trust and mental models.....	177
6.1	The issue.....	178
6.2	Epistemology & Method	181
6.3	Institutional Economics: the theory of institutional change.....	184
6.4	Mental models and institutional change.....	186
6.5	Trust and mental models: the case of forest owners in the Allgäu.....	189
6.6	Conclusions	195
6.7	References	196
7	Small-Scale European Forestry, an Anticommons?	201
7.1	Introduction	202

7.2	The Problem of Small Scale Forests in Europe.....	203
7.2.1	Economic Values.....	206
7.2.2	Ecological Values.....	208
7.2.3	Social Values.....	208
7.3	Small-scale forestry, property rights and common property theory....	209
7.4	The problem revisited under a property rights perspective.....	210
7.5	Small-scale private forestry and anticommons	212
7.6	Comparison of anticommons in small-scale European forestry with forestry elsewhere and the commons debate in general	216
7.7	Conclusion.....	219
7.8	References:	221
8	The Grammar of Institutions: The challenge of distinguishing between strategies, norms and rules.....	225
8.1	Introduction	226
8.2	The grammar of Institutions: a syntax.....	228
8.3	Institutions, strategies, norms and rules: the grammar's definitions and the general literature	231
8.4	Strategies and Norms: delta parameters and deontics as sufficient conditions?	236
8.5	Norms and rules: the or else criteria for differentiation?	237
8.6	Norms and rules: the additional qualifications.....	240
8.7	Norms and rules: Do delta or or else parameters determine our behaviour?	242
8.8	Empirical implications of investigating with the help of the grammar.....	246
8.8.1	An explorative list of various sanctions: the rule in relation to the tram	247
8.8.2	Differentiating into various sanctions in various empirical situations	248
8.9	Conclusions	251
8.10	References	252
9	Morals as an incentive? An experimental study on a business relying on honour based flower picking.....	258
9.1	Introduction	259
9.2	Theoretical Background	261
9.3	Methodology	265

9.3.1	The Setting of the “game”	265
9.3.2	Data gathering	266
9.4	Results	266
9.4.1	Qualitative Results	267
9.4.2	Quantitative Results	270
9.5	Discussion	281
9.6	Conclusion.....	284
9.7	References	285