

Three Essays on Public-Private Partnerships and their Role in Microfinance

*Inaugural-Dissertation
zur Erlangung des Doktorgrades
des Fachbereichs Wirtschaftswissenschaften
der Johann Wolfgang Goethe-Universität
Frankfurt am Main*

vorgelegt von
Nina Moisa
aus
Wiesbaden

Frankfurt am Main, 2011

Inhaltsverzeichnis

Verzeichnis der enthaltenen Arbeiten	6
Einleitung	7
Danksagung	27
I The Role of Public-Private Partnerships and Relational Contracts in Public Service Provision	29
1. Introduction	30
2. Relation to Literature	33
3. Idea of the model	39
4. Economic Environment	42
5. General Analysis	46
5.1 First-Best	46
5.2 Short-term PPP	46
5.3 Short-term Contracting Out	47
5.4 Relational PPP	48
5.5 Relational Contracting Out	50
5.6 Effect of Ownership on Reneging Temptations	52
6. Different cases of investment cross-effects	52
6.1 Case 1: One-dimensional investment	53
6.2 Case 2: Unproductive multitasking	55
6.3 Case 3: Negative cross-effects	57
6.4 General results for relational contracts	59
7. Conclusion and Policy Implications	59
A. Appendix	64

II	The Role of Public Actors and Public-Private Partnerships in Microfinance	81
1.	Introduction and Motivation of the Paper	83
2.	Goals of Microfinance and Evidence on Impact	88
	2.1 Defining the Goals of Microfinance
	Poverty Relief vs. Financial Inclusion	89
	2.2 Measuring the Social Impact of MFI	93
3.	Recent Developments in Microfinance	96
	3.1 Commercialization and the role of MIVs	96
	3.2 Effects of the recent Financial Crisis an Global Downturn on the Microfinance Sector	96
	3.3 The Microfinance Crisis in Andhra Pradesh and other Recent Delinquency Crises	99
4.	The Role of Public Actors in Microfinance	103
	4.1 Overview	103
	4.2 Commitment to a “Double Bottom Line” and preventing Mission Drift	107
	4.3 The Future of Microfinance - Challenges and Potentials	113
	4.4 Key Challenges for Public Actors in the Field of Microfinance	116
5.	PPP in the Area of Microfinance	121
	5.1 Overview PPP in general and PPP in Development Cooperation	121
	5.2 PPP in Microfinance	124
	5.3 Two Levels of PPP in the Area of Building and Financing MFI	127
6.	Modeling PPP in the Case of Building MFI	129
	6.1 Key Challenges for the Partnership in the Process of Building MFI	129
	6.2 Overview of the underlying Model (Moisa, 2009)	130
	6.3 Application to the Case of Building MFI	132
	6.4 Effect of a Social Orientation to of the Firm on the Model	135
	6.5 Findings of the Model regarding the Case of Building MFI	136
7.	Modeling PPP in the Case of Commercial Financing of MFI	136
	7.1 Key Challenges for the Partnership in the Stage of Financing MFI	136
	7.2 Relation to Literature: Starting Small	137
	7.3 A Model of Starting Small and PPP in Microfinance	137
	7.4 Findings of the Model regarding the Case of Financing MFI	140
8.	Conclusion	140
A.	Appendix	143

III	Interpersonal and Interorganizational Cooperation and Trust: An Economic Analysis and Application to Public-Private Partnerships	161
1.	Introduction and Motivation of the Paper	163
2.	Cooperation and Trust in Economic Literature	165
3.	A simple Model of different Forms of Cooperative Behavior	170
	3.1 Basic Model	171
	3.2 Repeated Interactions and Relational Contracts	172
	3.3 Reputation Building	174
	3.4 Other-regarding Preferences	175
	3.5 Reciprocity	176
	3.6 Guilt Aversion	179
	3.7 Summary of Reasons for Cooperative Behavior	180
4.	Adding an Intermediary to the Principal-Agent Relationship	181
	4.1 Effects of Intermediation on Cooperation	182
	4.2 Asymmetric Information regarding Q	187
5.	Cooperation in a Network of Principal-Agent Relationships	189
	5.1 Scope for Cooperation if two Firms interact	190
	5.2 Interpersonal Trust as the Basis for Interorganizational Trust	195
	5.3 Changing Agents in an existing Cooperative Relationship	195
6.	Application to Public-Private Partnerships	197
	6.1 Differences in the Characteristics of Public and Private Institutions	198
	6.2 Interpersonal vs. Interorganizational Trust in Public-Private Partnerships	199
	6.3 Key Insights about PPP	201
7.	Conclusion	204
A.	Appendix	207