VIOLENT TRADERS

Europeans in Asia in the Age of Mercantilism

DIETMAR ROTHERMUND

MANOHAR
2014
Contents

List of Graphs, Table and Maps 7

Preface 9

Introduction: Uncertainty, Risk and Violence 11

1. Preconditions: Calibrated Empiricism and Widening Horizons 17

2. Mercantilism: Concepts and Protagonists 25

3. Trade and the Uses of Power 39

4. Instruments of Violence: Armed Ships and Fortresses 45

5. The Venetian Weir-Basket: A Model of Captive Trade 59

6. Maritime Protection Rent: The Portuguese System 63

7. The Dutch: Monopoly Control and the Freedom of the Seas 76

8. The British: International Competition and an Expanding Home Market 84

9. The Changing Pattern of Commodities: Pepper, Textiles and Tea 95

10. The Quantitative and Qualitative Impact of Asian Trade on European Economic Development 101

11. India, China and Japan in the Age of Mercantilism 111

12. European Bridgeheads in Asia: The Changing Functions of the Factories of the East India Companies 121

14. From Mercantilism to Power Politics: British French Rivalry for Global Hegemony 147

15. The Link between Private Capital and Public Finance in England 159

Bibliography 181

Index 191