Contents

List of Figures xi
Acknowledgements xii
Introduction xiii

1 Managers and their Backgrounds 1

Introduction 2
The nature of management 2
How people become managers 4
The conflict between specialist and managerial activity 6
Specialist career structures and their limitations 7
Reasons for people opting out of managerial responsibilities 10
Remedial strategies 14
Summary 17
Self-assessment questions 18
Case study notes – The Player-Manager 18
Skills development exercise 19
Notes 19
References 19
Taking it further 20

2 Identifying the Manager’s Job 21

Introduction 22
Activity versus effectiveness 22
The identification of the manager’s job 24
Role set analysis 29
Time management 36
Strategic planning 40
Summary 45
Self-assessment questions 46
Case study notes – A Managerial Headache 46
Skills development exercise 47
References 47
Taking it further 48
3 The Manager and the Organization

Introduction 50
Theories of organizations 50
Types of organizational structure and activity 53
Globalization 58
Factors that determine organizational structure 59
The interrelationship of organizational activity 65
Role behaviour 69
General organizational developments 70
Corporate governance 74
Summary 76
Self-assessment questions 77
Case study notes – Here We Go 77
Skills development exercise 78
Appendix 78
Notes 79
References 79
Taking it further 80

4 Managerial and Leadership Style

Introduction 83
Trends in managerial and leadership style 84
Options in managerial and leadership styles 88
Organizational factors 92
The impact of national culture 94
Aggressive, non-assertive and assertive behaviours 99
Handling change 100
Evaluation of a managerial or leadership style 101
Summary 103
Self-assessment questions 103
Questionnaire 104
Case study notes – The New Broom 104
Appendix 105
References 105
Taking it further 106

5 Delegation

Introduction 108
The nature of delegation 108
Accountability in the public sector 109
The need for delegation 110
Development of subordinates 112
The skills of delegation 113
Obstacles to effective delegation 118
12 Workplace Counselling

Introduction 252
The nature of and need for workplace counselling 252
Specific skills 253
Level of direction 256
Confidentiality 257
Grievance handling 257
Counselling in disciplinary situations 262
Summary 263
Self-assessment questions 263
Case study notes – What to Do? 264
Appendix 264
References 266
Taking it further 266

13 Disciplinary Handling and Dismissal

Introduction 268
The objectives of discipline 269
The responsibility of the individual manager 270
Procedural skills 272
Disciplinary hearings 273
The law relating to dismissal 277
The relationship between civil and criminal law 282
Employment tribunals 283
Other implications of dismissals 285
Remedies for unfair dismissal 286
Summary 287
Self-assessment questions 288
Case study notes – The Nursery Care Incident 288
Appendix 1 288
Appendix 2 289
References 290
Taking it further 290

14 Negotiating Skills

Introduction 292
Range of activity and trends 293
15 Meetings, Chairing and Team Building

Introduction
The need for meetings
Activities in meetings
Roles in meetings
Preparation before meetings
The agenda and its management
Conduct by the chair during meetings
Team building
Summary
Self-assessment questions
Learning exercise
References
Taking it further

Glossary

Index