Women, Gender, Remittances and Development in the Global South

Edited by

TON VAN NAERSSEN
Radboud University Nijmegen, the Netherlands

LOTTHAR SMITH
Radboud University Nijmegen, the Netherlands

TINE DAVIDS,
Radboud University Nijmegen, the Netherlands

MARIANNE H. MARCHAND
Universidad de las Américas Puebla, Mexico

ASHGATE
Contents

List of Tables and Figures vii
Notes on Contributors ix
Preamble xiii
Preface xvii

PROLOGUE
1 Women, Gender and Remittances: An Introduction 3
   Ton van Naerssen, Lothar Smith, Tine Davids and
   Marianne H. Marchand

PART I: SETTING THE CONTEXT
2 A Gender Perspective on Migration, Remittances and Development: The UN-INSTRAW Experience 17
   Elisabeth Robert

3 Exploring Gender and Remittances 37
   Ton van Naerssen

PART II: TRANSGNATIONAL MICROCOSMS: ENGENDERING REMITTANCES IN DAILY PRACTICES
4 Contesting Gender Roles: ‘Left-Behind’ Migrant Spouses in Kumasi, Ghana 61
   Ingmar Deenen, Lieke van der Zee and Lothar Smith

5 Transnational Households and the Dynamics of Changing
   Gender Relations in Sucre, Bolivia 81
   Roos Helmich

6 Gender Dimensions of the ‘National Script’ on Migration
   and Remittances in the Philippines 99
   Phillip Gresham, Marieke Smit and Lothar Smith
PART III: POLICY SCAPES TO THE GENDER–REMITTANCES NEXUS

8 ‘All in the Family’: Remittances, Gender and Public Policies in the Philippines 141
    Maruja M.B. Asis

9 Migrants’ and Women’s Rights Are Human Rights: Migrant Remittances and Policies in Bangladesh 155
    Agnes Khoo

10 Valuing Gender in Collective Development Efforts 173
    Danièle de Winter

11 Migrants as ‘Experts’ or ‘Agents’ of Development? A Postcolonial Feminist Critique 189
    Marianne H. Marchand

PART IV: REFLECTING ON THE NEXUS AND PERFORMATIVE POWER

12 ‘Moneymaker and Mother from Afar’: The Power of Gender Myths 207
    Rahel Kunz

13 Framing Gender in Remittances 229
    Tine Davids and Francien van Driel

14 Epilogue: Reflecting on the Women–Gender–Remittances–Development Nexus 243
    Ton van Naerssen, Lothar Smith, Tine Davids and Marianne H. Marchand

Index 253