

Experimental Analysis of Successes and Failures in Prosocial and Ethical Behavior

Dissertation

Zur Erlangung des akademischen Grades
doctor rerum politicarum
(Dr.rer.pol.)

vorgelegt dem Rat der Wirtschaftswissenschaftlichen Fakultät
der Friedrich-Schiller-Universität Jena am 11.02.2015

von Serhiy Kandul (MA)

geboren am 06.11.1984

in: Myroni (Poltawska Obl, Ukraine)

Contents

Deutsche Zusammenfassung	VI
List of Figures	XXI
List of Tables	XXII
1 Introduction	1
1.1 The research framework for experimental studies of pro-social and ethical behavior	2
1.2 The scope and the summary of the main findings of the thesis	9
1.2.1 The effect of ex-post information disclosure on giving in a dictator game with incomplete information	9
1.2.2 Current and future effects of delegation of lying	11
1.2.3 Experimental analysis of the effects of third- party action on moral behavior	14
2 The effect of ex-post information disclosure on giv- ing in a dictator game with incomplete information

	17
2.1 Motivation	17
2.2 Related literature	18
2.3 Research questions	20
2.4 Experimental Design	21
2.5 Hypotheses	23
2.6 Results	25
2.7 Conclusion and Discussion	31
2.8 Appendix: Experimental Instructions	33
3 Do I care if the others lie? Current and future effects of delegation of lying	39
3.1 Introduction	39
3.1.1 Motivation	39
3.1.2 Related literature	40
3.2 Experimental design	45
3.3 Hypotheses	48
3.3.1 Hypotheses for the sender-receiver game:	48
3.3.2 Hypotheses for the dictator game:	48
3.4 Results	49
3.4.1 Lying and truth-telling	50
3.4.2 Delegation	51
3.4.3 Compensatory behavior	53

3.5	Conclusions and Discussion	59
3.6	Appendix: Experimental Instructions	61
4	Moral Substitutes and Moral Complements: the Effects of Third-Party Action on Moral Behavior	68
4.1	Introduction	68
4.1.1	Moral Consistency and Moral Balancing . . .	68
4.1.2	The Effect of Third-Party Actions	71
4.2	Research Question and Hypotheses	73
4.3	Experiment Design	75
4.4	Results	78
4.4.1	Recalling Ethical or Unethical Actions	79
4.4.2	Low and High Efforts by Random Assignment	81
4.4.3	Low and High Efforts by Third-Party Choice	82
4.5	Conclusion and Discussion	84
4.6	Appendix	86
4.6.1	Recalled Ethical and Unethical Acts	86
4.6.2	Experimental Instructions	88
5	Discussion	94
5.1	Conclusion and methodological remarks	94
5.2	Implications and venues for future research	96
	Bibliography	109

Curriculum Vitae	110
Statutory Declaration (in German)	112