

Merchants and Trade Networks in the Atlantic and the Mediterranean, 1550–1800

Connectors of commercial maritime systems

Edited by Manuel Herrero Sánchez and Klemens Kaps

Contents

List of figures and maps	vii
List of tables	viii
List of contributors	ix

1 Connectors, networks and commercial systems: approaches to the study of early modern maritime commercial history	1
MANUEL HERRERO SÁNCHEZ AND KLEMENS KAPS

PART I

Merchant networks, early modern long-distance trade and globalisation: theoretical considerations and historiographical reappraisal	37
--	-----------

2 Social capital, networks and trust in early modern long-distance trade: a critical appraisal	39
XABIER LAMIKIZ

3 Understanding networking: theoretical framework and historical evidence	62
MONTSERRAT CACHERO VINUESA

4 Merchants and the beating of a butterfly's wings: from local to global in the transfer of economic behaviour models in the eighteenth century	83
ANA CRESPO SOLANA

PART II

The social composition of networks: cultural identities versus transnationality 107

- 5 Adaptive strategies: French and Flemish merchant communities in Seville as connectors of European and American markets (1570–1650) 109

EBERHARD CRAILSHEIM

- 6 Agents of globalisation: an approximation to Santi
Federighi's commercial network, c. 1620–1643 130

JOSÉ L. GASCH-TOMÁS

- 7 Nations? What nations? Business in the shaping of international trade networks: Seville in the eighteenth century 145

MANUEL F. FERNÁNDEZ CHAVES AND MERCEDES GAMERO ROJAS

PART III

Connecting spaces: networks and systems, merchants and political economies 169

- 8 Interconnecting trade regions: international networks of German merchants in the eighteenth century 171

MARGRIT SCHULTE BEERBÜHL

- 9 Merchants between the Mediterranean Sea and the Atlantic Ocean: the Bouligny family case (1700–1762) 196

PABLO HERNÁNDEZ SAU

PART IV

The complexity of networks: formal and informal exchange mechanisms and rupture of merchant cooperation 219

- 10 Hides and the Hispanic monarchy: from contraband to royal privilege 221

BETHANY ARAM

- 11 Structural holes and bad ideas: Liverpool's Atlantic trade
networks in the early-eighteenth century 237

SHERYLLYNNE HAGGERTY

Index 255